1 I. INTRODUCTION

2 Plaintiff Ameranth, Inc. moves to disqualify attorney Jim Warriner, one of 3 the counsel for defendants Papa John’s, Expedia, Fandango, Hotel Tonight, 4 Hotels.com, Hotwire, Kayak, Live Nation/TicketMaster, Micros, Orbitz, 5 StubHub, Travelocity, Wanderspot and OpenTable (the “Fulbright 6 Defendants”), and Mr. Warriner’s law firm, Norton Rose Fulbright (fka 7 Fulbright & Jaworski LLP)(the “Fulbright Firm”), for violation of Rule 1.12 of 8 the ABA Rules of Professional Conduct and Local Rule 83.4(b).

9 Mr. Warriner served as the judicial law clerk to the Hon. Chad 10 Everingham of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas 11 when the Ameranth v. Menusoft lawsuit was prosecuted and tried before that 12 court involving Ameranth’s ‘850, ‘325 and ‘733 patents, each of which are 13 among the four patents in suit in the consolidated cases pending before this 14 Court. Defense counsel in the Texas litigation included Fulbright attorneys 15 Richard Zembek, Mark Delflache, and Dustin Mauck, each of whom also 16 represents the Fulbright Defendants in these consolidated cases. Mr. Warriner is 17 now employed as an attorney with the Fulbright firm and he is directly involved 18 with both the consolidated cases before this Court and the covered business 19 method (“CBM”) proceedings before the United States Patent & Trademark 20 Office (“Patent Office” or “PTO”).

21 Southern District of California Local Rule 83.4(b), entitled “Standards of 22 Professional Conduct,” advises counsel to conduct themselves in compliance 23 with the “Code of Professional Responsibility of the American Bar

1 Association.”¹ This District looks to the ABA Model Rules of Professional 2 Conduct when determining disqualification motions. See, e.g., Multimedia 3 Patent Trust v. Apple Inc., 2011 WL 1636928 *2 (S.D. Cal. 2011).

4 ABA Model Rule 1.12 (“Former Judge, Arbitrator, Mediator or Other 5 Third-Party Neutral”) provides that:

6 (a) ... a lawyer shall not represent anyone in connection with a 7 matter in which the lawyer participated personally and substantially 8 as a judge or other adjudicative officer or law clerk to such a person 9 or as an arbitrator, mediator or other third-party neutral, unless all 10 parties to the proceeding give informed consent, confirmed in 11 writing.

11 ...

12 (c) If a lawyer is disqualified by paragraph (a), no lawyer in a firm 13 with which that lawyer is associated may knowingly undertake or 14 continue representation in the matter unless:

- 15 (1) the disqualified lawyer is timely screened from any 16 participation in the matter and is apportioned no part of the 17 fee therefrom; and 18 (2) written notice is promptly given to the parties and any 19 appropriate tribunal to enable them to ascertain compliance 20 with the provisions of this rule.

21 ABA Model Rule 1.12 is the basis of a substantively identical Patent 22 Office ethical rule, codified at 37 C.F.R. §11.112, which provides:

23 (a) ... a practitioner shall not represent anyone in connection with a 24 matter in which the practitioner participated personally and substantially 25 as a judge or other adjudicative officer or law clerk to such a person or as 26 ¹ The standard of care exercised by this Court in assuring compliance with 27 applicable ethical considerations is exemplified in this very case by Judges 28 Sammartino and Stormes, among others, recusing themselves to assure that no conflicts were presented.

1 an arbitrator, mediator or other third-party neutral, unless all parties to the 2 proceeding give informed consent, confirmed in writing.

3 . . .

4 (c) If a practitioner is disqualified by paragraph (a) of this section, 5 no practitioner in a firm with which that practitioner is associated may 6 knowingly undertake or continue representation in the matter unless:

7 (1) The disqualified practitioner is timely screened from any 8 participation in the matter and is apportioned no part of the fee therefrom; 9 and

10 (2) Written notice is promptly given to the parties and any 11 appropriate tribunal to enable them to ascertain compliance with the 12 provisions of this section.

13 Because Mr. Warriner served as a judicial law clerk in the Ameranth v.
14 Menusoft lawsuit involving the same patents and many of the same critical 15 issues of patent validity present in the consolidated cases and in the CBM 16 proceedings, both Mr. Warriner and his employer—the Fulbright Firm—should 17 be disqualified in this action. Further, the Fulbright Defendants and non-18 Fulbright Defendants are parties to a joint defense agreement and are co-19 petitioners in the CBM petitions². Discovery should be permitted into 20 communications within the joint defense group to determine whether other 21 counsel are tainted and further disqualifications are consequently appropriate.
22 See j2 Global Comms. Inc. v. Captaris Inc., 2012 WL 6618272 *10 (C.D. Cal.
23 2012) (ordering co-counsel that had discussions with the disqualified attorney to 24 be screened from the case).

25 As discussed herein, courts across the country have decisively dealt with 26 situations of this ilk by disqualifying the conflicted attorneys and their laws firm

27 ² Ameranth plans to bring a similar disqualification motion before the USPTO.
28

1 in order to avoid the appearance of impropriety and to protect the integrity of the 2 judicial system. A similar result should obtain here.

3 II. BACKGROUND FACTS

4 In 2007, Ameranth filed a patent infringement lawsuit in the Eastern 5 District of Texas against Menusoft Corporation and other defendants styled as 6 Ameranth v. Menusoft, Civil Case No. 07-cv-271. The Ameranth v. Menusoft
7 case was assigned to the Honorable Chad Everingham. Judge Everingham's law 8 clerk for the bulk of the substantive proceeding in the lawsuit, including for the 9 Markman hearing, claim construction, settlement conferences, and the trial 10 itself, was Jim Warriner³. Osborne Decl., ¶¶ 2, 4.

11 The defendants in the Ameranth v. Menusoft lawsuit were accused of 12 infringing three of Ameranth's patents—the '850, '325 and '733 patents. The 13 claim terms were construed by the court, and a jury trial was held from 14 September 13-20, 2010 before Judge Everingham. Jim Warriner was Judge 15 Everingham's sole law clerk throughout the key phases of the litigation 16 including at the Markman Hearing, for dispositive motion dispositions and at the 17 trial. Exhs. 3, 11. Judge Everingham also held confidential settlement meetings 18 with the parties to attempt to resolve the matter. Osborne Decl., ¶ 4; McNally 19 Decl., ¶ 5.

20 Defendants in the Ameranth v. Menusoft lawsuit were represented by the 21 Fulbright Firm. Richard Zembek, Mark Delflache and Dustin Mauck of the 22 Fulbright Firm were primary defense counsel and attended and participated in 23 the trial. Mr. Zembek and Mr. Delflache attended the Markman Hearing with

26 ³ Mr. Warriner was also, for a short period of time, Judge Everingham's law 27 clerk while Ameranth v. Par Technology Corp., Eastern District of Texas Case 28 No. 2:10-cv-294, was assigned to Judge Everingham. NOL, Exh. 13; Osborne Decl., ¶ 6. Ameranth v. Par was likewise a suit for infringement of Ameranth's
'850, '325 and '733 patents.

1 Mr. Zembek primarily presenting the defendants’ positions. Osborne Decl., ¶¶ 2 3, 5; NOL, Exh. 3.

3 Ameranth commenced the earliest of the consolidated cases currently 4 pending before this Court in August of 2011. Dkt. No. 1. One of the original 5 defendants sued at that time on the ‘850 and ‘325 patents (and subsequently 6 sued on the ‘077 patent) was Papa John’s. Papa John’s has been represented at 7 all times by the Fulbright Firm, and Richard Zembek, and Mark Delflache and 8 Dustin Mauck have been among the primary members of the Fulbright team 9 representing Papa John’s in the matter. Osborne Decl., ¶ 8.

10 As the litigation has progressed, and additional defendants have been 11 added to the consolidated cases, the Fulbright Firm has expanded its 12 representation of defendants accused of infringing Ameranth’s ‘850, ‘325, ‘733 13 and ‘077 patents, so that the Fulbright Firm now represents all 14 of the 14 “Fulbright Defendants” identified above. Osborne Decl., ¶ 9.

15 In the consolidated cases, the defendants—including the Fulbright 16 Defendants—raise numerous challenges to the validity of the ‘850, ‘325 and 17 ‘733 patents, including the same challenges previously raised to those same 18 patents in the Ameranth v. Menusoft action. Furthermore, the defendants, 19 including the Fulbright Defendants, raise a number of defenses and issues 20 arising directly out of the Ameranth v. Menusoft lawsuit. For example, 21 defendants argue that the judgment entered in the Ameranth v. Menusoft case 22 (and subsequently vacated while on appeal to the Federal Circuit) should 23 collaterally estop Ameranth from asserting the claims of the patents against the 24 defendants in this action. See, e.g., Case No. 12-cv-1636, Dkt. No. 17-1, pp. 5-25 12. Likewise, defendants argue that the claim construction rulings issued by 26 Judge Everingham should unilaterally collaterally estop Ameranth (but not the 27 defendants) from asserting other constructions. Dkt. No. 497 (Transcript of 28

1 Proceedings, pp. 10-11, Sept. 12, 2013). Furthermore, defendants assert claims 2 of inequitable conduct against Ameranth on the (incorrect) grounds that 3 Ameranth supposedly failed to disclose to the USPTO the alleged “prior art” 4 references that the defendants in the Ameranth v. Menusoft submitted to the 5 Eastern District of Texas. See, e.g., Case No. 12-cv-733, Dkt. No. 59, ¶¶169-72; 6 Case No. 12-cv-1651, Dkt. No. 40, ¶209. Thus, there are substantial 7 overlapping issues between the Ameranth v. Menusoft litigation and the 8 consolidated cases before this Court. Likewise, the CBM petitions challenge the 9 validity of the patents in suit on many of the grounds unsuccessfully asserted as 10 defenses in the Ameranth v. Menusoft matter. Osborne Decl., ¶ 11.

11 According to Mr. Warriner’s professional profile, he joined the Fulbright 12 Firm as an associate attorney in August of 2013—approximately two years after 13 the earliest of the Consolidated Cases were filed against Papa John’s and others 14 and roughly two months before the defendants filed their Covered Business 15 Method (“CBM”) petitions in the Patent Office. Exh. 2. Email correspondence 16 demonstrates that Mr. Warriner started working on this case and the defendants’ 17 CBM petitions almost immediately after joining Fulbright. Exhs. 4-9.

18 A review of recent emails exchanges between counsel for Ameranth and 19 the Fulbright Firm reveal that Mr. Warriner has been involved with both the 20 CBM petitions, and with the defense of the consolidated cases, since at least 21 September 27, 2013. Exh. 4⁴. Mr. Warriner is working on these matters with 22 the same Fulbright attorneys who tried the Ameranth v. Menusoft lawsuit before 23 Judge Everingham while Mr. Warriner was Judge Everingham’s law clerk—24 Richard Zembek, Mark Delflache, and Dustin Mauck—among others. Osborne 25 Decl., ¶¶ 3, 8, 10.

26 _____
 27 ⁴ Although Mr. Warriner began appearing in emails by September 27, 2013, 28 Ameranth’s counsel did not realize who he was until mid-November 2013.
 Osborne Decl., ¶ 12.

1 From this evidence it is clear that: 1) Mr. Warriner participated personally 2 and substantially in the Ameranth v. Menusoft lawsuit as a judicial law clerk to 3 Judge Everingham (Exhs. 1-3, 11); 2) Mr. Warriner has participated personally 4 and substantially in both the consolidated cases and the CBM petitions (Exhs. 4-5 8) as an associate attorney with the Fulbright Firm, and consequently has not 6 been timely screened from involvement, participation or contact in or with the 7 consolidated cases or the CBM petitions; and 3) the notices required by Rule 8 1.12 have never been served upon Ameranth, the Court or the USPTO. Osborne 9 Decl., ¶ 13.

10 In light of his substantial personal involvement with the Ameranth v.
11 Menusoft lawsuit as a judicial law clerk, Mr. Warriner is disqualified from 12 participation in the consolidated cases, and the CBM petitions, under ABA 13 Model Rule 1.12, Local Rule 83.4(b), and USPTO ethical rule 37 C.F.R.
14 §11.112. Furthermore, because Mr. Warriner has not been ethically screened 15 from the rest of the Fulbright Firm in a timely manner, the entire Fulbright Firm 16 is disqualified from participation in those matters as well. Moreover, discovery 17 should be permitted into the extent of joint defense group communications 18 between tainted members of the Fulbright Firm and other defense counsel in the 19 joint defense group to determine if additional disqualifications are appropriate.

20 III. ARGUMENT

21 Mr. Warriner was not formerly Ameranth's attorney, but his position as 22 law clerk to the judge who presided over a case involving the same Ameranth 23 patents asserted in this matter disqualifies him from working in a capacity 24 adverse to Ameranth here. Indeed, "no California case has held that only a 25 client or former client may bring a disqualification motion." Kennedy v.
26 Eldridge, 201 Cal.App.4th 1197, 1204 (2011) (emphasis added). This is 27 because "[a] trial court's authority to disqualify an attorney derives from the 28

1 power inherent in every court “[t]o control in furtherance of justice, the conduct 2 of its ministerial officers, and of all other persons in any manner connected with 3 a judicial proceeding before it, in every matter pertaining thereto.” People ex
 4 rel. Dept. of Corporations v. Speedee Oil Change Systems, Inc., 20 Cal.4th 5 1135, 1145 (2006) (quoting Cal. Code Civ. Proc. § 128(a)(5)). Ultimately, 6 California law recognizes that “[t]he important right to counsel of one's choice 7 must yield to ethical considerations that affect the fundamental principles of our 8 judicial process.” Id. “Disqualification of counsel not only prevents attorneys 9 from breaching their ethical duties, but also protects the judicial process from 10 any taint of unfairness that might arise from conflicts of interest.” Bernhoft Law 11 Firm, S.C. v. Pollock, 2013 WL 542087 *2 (S.D. Cal. 2013).

12 A. California Courts Look To ABA Rule 1.12 As Persuasive
 13 Authority.

14 Courts applying California ethics law look to the ABA Model Rules of 15 Professional Conduct as persuasive authority, including Rule 1.12. See County 16 of Los Angeles v. Forsyth, 223 F.3d 990, 993 (9th Cir. 2000) (“Though the 17 Model Rules of Professional Conduct have not been adopted as binding under 18 California law (which governs here), see State Compensation Ins. Fund v. WPS, 19 Inc., 70 Cal. App. 4th 644, 655-56 (1999), we rely on the Rules as persuasive 20 authority. See Paul E. Iacono Structural Eng'r, Inc. v. Humphrey, 722 F.2d 435, 21 439 (9th Cir. 1983); see also Cho v. Superior Court, 39 Cal. App. 4th 113, 121
 22 n.2 (1995); Higdon v. Superior Court, 227 Cal. App. 3d 1667, 1680, 278 Cal.
 23 Rptr. 588 (1991”).

24 Former clerk Warriner and his current firm, Fulbright, are clearly 25 disqualified from representing parties adverse to Ameranth in the consolidated 26 cases. Rule 1.12 provides that:

27 (a) ... a lawyer shall not represent anyone in connection with a 28 matter in which the lawyer participated personally and substantially as a judge or other adjudicative officer or law clerk . . . unless all parties to the proceeding give informed consent, confirmed in writing.

(c) If a lawyer is disqualified by paragraph (a), no lawyer in a firm with which that lawyer is associated may knowingly undertake or continue representation in the matter unless:

(1) the disqualified lawyer is timely screened from any participation in the matter and is apportioned no part of the fee therefrom; and

(2) written notice is promptly given to the parties and any appropriate tribunal to enable them to ascertain compliance with the provisions of this rule. (Emphasis added).

Mr. Warriner is now working on matters which involve the same subject matter and issues as presented in Ameranth v. Menusoft, Ameranth was not notified of and has not consented to Mr. Warriner’s participation in these matters, Mr. Warriner was not timely screened from the actions adverse to Ameranth (in fact he apparently was hired and immediately assigned to work on those matters), and neither Mr. Warriner nor the Fulbright Firm provided any written notice to Ameranth, the Court or the Patent Office. Under these circumstances, the application of the Rule is clear: Mr. Warriner and his firm must be disqualified from the consolidated cases and from the CBM proceedings.

Mr. Warriner Is Now Working Against Ameranth On The Same Subject Matter He Was Involved With In A Judicial Capacity.

Numerous courts have held that the ABA Rule of Professional Conduct broad interpretation of “matter” in Rule 1.11(d) provides definition to the term “matter” in ABA Rule 1.12:

1 [T]he term “matter” includes:

2 (1) any judicial or other proceeding, application, request for a 3 ruling or other determination, contract, claim, controversy, 4 investigation, charge, accusation, arrest or other particular matter 5 involving a specific party or parties...

6 Model Rule 1.11(d). As one commentator has stated, the thrust of 7 the word “is more in the direction of universality than of 8 delimitation.” C. Wolfram, Modern Legal Ethics § 8.10 (1986) at 9 471, 472–73 (additionally stating that the same issue of fact 10 involving the same parties and the same situation or conduct is the 11 same matter); see also Laker Airways Ltd. v. Pan American World 12 Airways, 103 F.R.D. 22, 34, 38 & n. 60 (D.D.C.1984) (interpreting 13 similar language in a District of Columbia rule to require that the 14 relationship between issues in prior and present cases be “patently 15 clear”).

16 In his roles as territorial court judge and special master, Feuerzeig 17 participated personally and substantially in attempts to resolve a 18 disagreement concerning the existence and extent of an easement 19 over Parcel No. 38 . . . those same parties are now before the AAA.
20 . . . [T]he arbitration panel will have to ascertain whether an 21 easement exists and, if so, the extent of the easement and how it 22 was created. Hence, the same “matter” in which Feuerzeig 23 participated personally and substantially as judge and special 24 master is before the panel in the arbitration proceeding, in which 25 Feuerzeig is ARI's lead counsel. Rule 1.12(a) requires, therefore, 26 that Feuerzeig be disqualified from further representation of ARI in 27 the disputes that are now before the AAA.

28 Isidor Paiewonsky Assoc., Inc. v. Sharp Prop., Inc., 1990 WL 303427 at *8 (D.
Virgin Is. 1990).

By choosing the word “matter” for Rule 1.11 and Rule 1.12, the Utah Supreme Court intended the two rules to encompass more than just the same lawsuit. In the context of interpreting “matter” for the purpose of understanding Rule 1.12, courts have held: “The same lawsuit or litigation is the same matter. The same issue of fact involving the same parties and the same situation or conduct is the same matter.... [T]he same ‘matter’ is not involved [when] ... there is lacking the discrete, identifiable transaction of conduct involving a particular situation and specific parties.” See Poly Software Int'l v.

 2 Sec. Investor Protection Corp. v. Vigman, 587 F.Supp. 1358, 1365
 3 (C.D. Cal. 1984) (holding two civil lawsuits, filed ten years apart 4 with some identical and some different claims, constituted the same 5 matter because they addressed the same conduct involving a 6 particular situation and specific parties)).

7 Archuleta v. Turley, 904 F.Supp.2d 1185, 1190 (D. Utah 2012).

8 The circumstances in the above mentioned cases requiring disqualification 9 are present here. There are overlapping issues presented in both the Ameranth v.
 10 Menusoft lawsuit and the consolidated cases, as well as in the CBM petitions, 11 and at least one party—Ameranth—is common to all.⁵ Where the same issues 12 are litigated in cases involving the same party or parties, even though in 13 different forums, they are the same “matter” for purposes of ABA Rule 1.12.

14 Judge Everingham himself made abundantly clear that cases involving the 15 same patents are the same “matters” for purposes of ABA Rule 1.12 shortly 16 before Mr. Warriner became Judge Everingham’s clerk:

17 Based on Mr. Langham’s previous participation in penning a 18 Markman order for Judge Gilmore involving patents common to 19 this case, the court disqualifies Mr. Langham from further 20 participation in this case.

21 Superspeed, LLC, v. IBM Corp., C.A. No. 2:07-cv-089 (E.D. Tex. Jan. 18, 22 2008), Dkt. No. 77 (NOL, Exh. 10). In Superspeed, Mr. Langham was a judicial 23 clerk who participated in “penning a Markman”⁶ order regarding particular 24 patents, who subsequently was employed by a law firm which was involved in 25 litigating the very same patents in a different court, and which firm tried to use 26 him in the second case to improperly harvest his unique knowledge and insights

27 ⁵ The Fulbright Firm is currently or has been involved in all of these matters.
 28 Osborne Decl., ¶¶ 3, 8, 10.

⁶ Judge Everingham’s order also makes it clear that law clerks are generally intimately involved with drafting claim construction orders.

1 obtained in the first case while he was a judicial clerk. Judge Everingham 2 emphatically rejected that attempt. The exact same thing is being attempted 3 now by the Fulbright Firm in the consolidated cases and in the CBM 4 proceedings with Mr. Warriner. Mr. Warriner and the Fulbright Firm should not 5 be allowed to get away with conduct that the judge for whom Mr. Warriner 6 clerked deemed unacceptable.

7 Many other courts and ethics bodies have reached the same conclusion:

8 Thus, if we treat this new, 1999 action and the 1984 action as the 9 same “matter,” it is clear under Rule 1.12 that Carroll must be 10 precluded from participating in this case. There is little doubt that 11 the two actions should be treated as the same “matter”: they involve 12 the same parties and largely the same facts and conduct and, more 13 importantly, this new action seeks to recover for the violation of a consent decree that Carroll had a hand in construing while she served as Judge Troutman's law clerk

19 noting that “The Rule makes no distinction as to whether or not the matter is 20 pending before the court on which the lawyer had previously sat as judge.”); 21 James v. Mississippi Bar, 962 So. 2d 528, 533-35 (2007) (where issues were 22 intertwined between cases, the cases involved the same matter even though in 23 different venues); Jessen v. Hartford Ca. Ins. Co., 111 Cal. App.4th 698, 711 24 (2003) (in-depth analysis not required; a rational link between the subject matter 25 of the two cases will suffice); U.S. v. Villaspring Health Care Center, Inc., 2011 26 WL 5330790 *5 (E.D. Ky. 2011) (“because the two matters involve the same 27 basic facts, the same defendant and related prosecutors, and the time elapsed 28

1 between the events was not significant, the two matters are the same for Rule
2 1.11 purposes”); In re de Brittingham, 319 S.W.3d 95, 98-99 (Tex. App. 2010)

6 certain ongoing restrictions that follow you to the next step in your career. You 7 may not participate in any matter that was pending before your judge during 8 your clerkship.”).

9 The overlap between patent infringement cases involving the same patents 10 is indisputable given the bifurcated manner the Supreme Court has directed for 11 the litigation of patent claims. Markman v. Westview Instr., Inc., 517 U.S. 370, 12 384 (1996). First, the Court must construe the patent’s reach as a matter of law.
13 That claim construction is intended to be predictive of the patent’s application to 14 all parties, with the Court looking to “the letters patent and the description of the 15 invention and specification of claim annexed to them.” Id. Only after the patent 16 is construed can infringement be determined. Insofar as the Ameranth v.
17 Menusoft case, the consolidated case and the CBM proceedings are concerned, 18 the “matters” are the same. The “correctness” of Judge Everingham’s claim 19 construction orders in Ameranth v. Menusoft will have a direct bearing on claim 20 construction issues in this case and in the CBM proceedings. Likewise, the fact 21 that Judge Everingham construed the system claims of the ‘850, ‘325 and ‘733 22 patents undermines the defendants’ arguments that those claims lack written 23 description or impermissibly combine system (apparatus) and method claims.

24 Notably, the annotations to the ABA Models Rules also advise that, 25 insofar as former law clerks are concerned, the existence of a relationship 26 between “matters” can be determined, in part, by considering whether “the 27

1 correctness” of their judge’s former decision “made while [they] served as law 2 clerks” will have any “bearing upon issues in current suit.” Ann.
3 ABA Model Rules of Prof. Conduct, Rule 1.12 (“What is a Matter?”
4 subsection). Clearly, Defendants cannot deny that the correctness of Judge 5 Everingham’s claim construction decisions will bear upon numerous issues in 6 the present case; in fact, it will figure prominently in this case. See, e.g., Precor
7 Inc. v. Fitness Quest, Inc., 2006 WL 2469123 at *1 (W.D. Wash. 2006)
8 (recognizing importance of prior claim construction). It is improper to allow a 9 former law clerk to be put in the position of interpreting and challenging the 10 judicial work product that he or she assisted in creating.⁷

11 Mr. Warriner was extensively involved in numerous decisions of Judge 12 Everingham which involved issues implicated in the present case and in the 13 defendants’ CBM petitions, including, for example: (a) claim construction for 14 terms of the ‘850, ‘325 and ‘733 patents, comprising three separate claim 15 construction orders; and (b) a motion for summary judgment on the “best mode 16 requirement” of 35 USC §112. Additionally, the effect, if any, of the vacated 19 ⁷ Note that disqualification is mandated under Rule 1.12 despite, rather than 20 because of, any suggestion of an actual leaked confidence. Fredonia 21 Broadcasting v. RCA Corp., 569 F.2d 251, 256-57 (5th Cir. 1978) (reversing 22 judgment because trial lawyer had previously served as clerk in earlier trial of 23 the same case in view of appearance concerns)(overruled on other grounds, 810 24 F.2d 1345). A former “law clerk, by virtue of his position, is obviously privy to 25 his judge’s thoughts in ways that parties cannot be” and “the notion” that he 26 might use that knowledge is “offensive.” Id. “Law clerks are not merely the 27 judge’s errand runners.” Hall v. Small Business Admin., 695 F.2d 175, 179 (5th 28 Cir. 1983). Rather, “clerks are privy to the judge’s thoughts in a way that neither parties to the lawsuit nor his most intimate family members may be.” Id.

A requirement to demonstrate the actual transfer of confidences would ignore persuasive authority which seeks to maintain the integrity of the bench and bar by requiring disqualification where there is an “appearance” of impropriety.

1 verdict from the Menusoft lawsuit has been and will be disputed in the 2 consolidated cases.

3 Mr. Warriner's involvement in the Menusoft Markman Hearing is 4 demonstrated by the appearance of his name on the minutes as the only law 5 clerk present. Exh. 3⁸. In fact, Mr. Warriner was Judge Everingham's only 6 clerk during this time period. Exh. 11. Moreover, from his statement in the 7 SuperSpeed case regarding a law clerk "penning" the Markman Order in the first 8 SuperSpeed case, it is clear that Judge Everingham deeply involved his law 9 clerks in the claim construction process. Exh. 10. If permitted to remain in this 10 action, Mr. Warriner and the Fulbright Firm would be arguing for this Court 11 (and the USPTO) to or ignore or modify the very claim construction orders that 12 Mr. Warriner was involved in creating as Judge Everingham's law clerk in the 13 Ameranth v. Menusoft matter. That is precisely what Judge Everingham himself 14 said a former clerk cannot do in Superspeed. See also, e.g., Mississippi Comm'n 15 on Jud. Performance v. Atkinson, 645 So. 2d 1331 (Miss. 1994) (disciplining 16 lawyer for representation seeking to reduce bond previously set by lawyer while 17 functioning as judge).

18 Because Mr. Warriner has been working on the consolidated cases and 19 CBM petitions as evidenced by the emails from the Fulbright Firm (Exhs. 4-8), 20 he obviously has not been screened from these matters. Because of that lack of 21 screening, and the fact that the notices required by Rule 1.12 have never been 22 served, not only is Mr. Warriner disqualified, but the entire Fulbright firm must 23 be as well. See j2 Global Comms. Inc. v. Captaris Inc., 2012 WL 6618272 *8

24 _____
25 ⁸ The court's minutes also demonstrate that Richard Zembek, for whom Mr.
26 Warriner now works, presented the defendants' Markman argument to the court 27 in the Ameranth v. Menusoft lawsuit. Exh. 3. Mr. Zembek also serves as liaison 28 Osborne Decl., ¶ 5.

1 (C.D. Cal. 2012) (“Normally, an attorney's conflict is imputed to the law firm as 2 a whole on the rationale that attorneys, working together and practicing law in a 3 professional association, share each other's, and their clients', confidential 4 information”) (citing City and County of San Francisco v. Cobra Solutions, 38 5 Cal.4th 839, 847–48 (2006)); Advanced Messaging Techs. v. EasyLink Services 6 Intern., 913 F.Supp. 2d 900, 910-11 (C.D. Cal. 2010)(applying “Vicarious 7 Presumption Rule” to disqualify entire law firm without analysis of “how much 8 work a tainted attorney performed” or proof of shared confidences within the 9 firm). ABA Model Rule Prof. Conduct 1.12(c).

10 Furthermore, this is not a situation where a former law clerk’s prior 11 involvement was unknown to his employing firm. As described above, at least 12 three of the Fulbright attorneys chiefly involved in these consolidated cases—13 Richard Zembek, Mark Delflache and Dustin Mauck—were on the defense team 14 that tried the Ameranth v. Menusoft case in front of Judge Everingham while Mr.
15 Warriner was his law clerk. Osborne Decl., ¶ 3. Thus, disqualification of the 16 entire Fulbright Firm is appropriate and justified.

17 C. Mr. Warriner Was Likely Privy To Confidential Information 18 Which Ameranth Shared Directly With Judge Everingham But Did Not Divulge To Defendants In Ameranth v. Menusoft.

19 While Mr. Warriner was his law clerk, Judge Everingham conducted 20 confidential settlement discussions with Ameranth (and separately with 21 Menusoft) in the Ameranth v. Menusoft lawsuit. In these discussions, 22 Ameranth’s officers (Keith McNally and Vern Yates) shared sensitive and 23 confidential information with the Court that was not disclosed to Menusoft or 24 otherwise made public, including Ameranth’s assessment of the merits of its 25 case, the strength and scope of its patents, and its licensing goals and strategies.
26 McNally Decl., ¶ 5.

1 One of the underlying rationales for ABA Rule 1.12 is that a litigant 2 should be free to discuss the merits of its case with a judicial officer who has 3 involved himself in an attempt to settle a case without fear that someone from 4 the judicial officer's staff would later work against the litigant on the same 5 subject matter. Because of this stringent prohibition of later use of confidential 6 information obtained by a judicial officer during settlement efforts, California 7 has in the past applied an absolute bar to participation by any firm employing a 8 tainted lawyer:

9 [A] judge who has participated in mediation or settlement efforts, 10 or who has otherwise received confidential information from the 11 parties in a case . . . becomes a confidant of the parties, on a par 12 with the parties' own lawyers. Under those circumstances, the 13 judge will be conclusively presumed to have received client 14 confidences in the course of the mediation, and his later 15 participation in the case will be governed by the same rule that governs lawyers: He may not participate in the case and, pursuant to Model Rules of Professional Conduct Rule 1.10(a), neither may his firm.

16 County of Los Angeles v. Forsyth, 223 F.3d 990, 993-94 (9th Cir. 2000).

17 Vicarious disqualification of the entire firm thus requires no proof of receipt of 18 specific confidential information.

19 The presumption of shared confidences is now deemed rebuttable by 20 interpreting courts consistent with the provisions of ABA Rule 1.12. Id. at 996.
21 Such rebuttal, however, must comprise proof of effective screening:

22 An ethical wall, when implemented in a timely and effective way, 23 can rebut the presumption that a lawyer has contaminated the entire 24 firm. The Model Rules explicitly approve the use of screening 25 procedures to avoid vicarious disqualification where a former judicial officer or government lawyer has joined the firm. See id.
Rules 1.11(a)-(b), 1.12(c)(1)

26
27 County of Los Angeles, 223 F.3d at 996 (emphasis added).
28

1 While Ameranth engaged in confidential settlement discussions in 2 chambers with Judge Everingham, and not directly with Mr. Warriner, given the 3 close working relationship between the judge and his sole law clerk, and the 4 extent of Mr. Warriner’s involvement in the Ameranth v. Menusoft matter, it is a 5 fair assumption that Mr. Warriner was exposed to or learned of confidential 6 matters Ameranth that discussed with the court⁹. Ameranth should not be 7 subjected to the risk that such information may now be used against it by Mr.
 8 Warriner, the Fulbright Firm, or any of the other defendants sharing information 9 with the Fulbright Firm under their joint defense agreement.

10 The integrity of the judicial process demands that litigants have 11 confidence that a judicial officer who has been privy to revelations 12 regarding the case in the course of settlement conferences will not later become aligned with the opposition.

13 Cho v. Superior Court of Los Angeles County, 39 Cal. App. 4th 113, 122 (1995).

14 If parties to mediation know that their mediator could someday be 15 an attorney on the opposing side in a substantially related matter, 16 they will be discouraged from freely disclosing their position in the 17 mediation, which may severely diminish the opportunity for settlement. . . .

18 Id. at 124 (quoting Poly Software Intern., Inc. v. Su, 880 F. Supp. 1487, 1494 19 (D. Utah 1995)).

20 We agree with the analysis in Poly Software that disqualification of 21 both the individual attorney and his or her firm is required where 22 the attorney has been privy to confidences of a litigant while acting 23 as a neutral mediator. We also agree with the distinction drawn 24 between adjudicators and mediators, so long as the adjudicator does not become a mediator and, in doing so, receive confidences from the parties going to the essential merits of the dispute. Where a

1 judicial officer has presided over settlement conferences which 2 included ex parte communication, we presume the revelation of 3 confidences relating to the merits of a litigant's case.

4 Id. at 125.¹⁰ Cases decided after Cho have held that effective screening can 5 avoid vicarious disqualification,¹¹ but there was no screening in the case at 6 bench.

7 The present situation requires a broad disqualification of counsel because 8 Mr. Warriner has been working on the consolidated cases and the CBM 9 proceedings, which is the opposite of a screening procedure which was 10 “implemented in a timely and effective way.” Id.

 14 ¹⁰ Note also that:

15 [E]ven when two matters are not the same as defined in Rule 1.11
 16 and applied in Rule 1.12, a lawyer may be disqualified under Rule 17 1.12 if he received confidential information that tainted the 18 litigation and resulted in an unfair advantage for one party. See 19 Poly Software, 880 F.Supp. at 1494–1495. The court in Poly 20 Software used Rule 1.12 to disqualify a lawyer who mediated a 21 dispute involving the parties who were then before the court in a 22 legally distinct, but factually related case. The court interpreted “matter” under Rule 1.12 to include not only the definition of Rule 1.11, but also the broader definition of “substantially factually related matter” as understood in Rule 1.9 of the Utah Rules of Professional Conduct.

23 Archuleta v. Turley, 904 F.Supp.2d 1185 (D. Utah 2012).

24 ¹¹ Cases dealing with prior representation conflicts are instructive in indicating 25 the types of preemptive steps which might indicate effective screening. See, 26 e.g., Openwave Sys. Inc. v. Myriad France S.A.S., 2011 WL 1225978 *4 (N.D.
 27 Cal. 2011) (“The firm may rebut the presumption that confidential client 28 information was shared by showing that the tainted attorney has not had and will not have any involvement with the litigation, or any communication with other attorneys or employees concerning the litigation.”) (emphasis added).

1 D. Defendants Have Asserted New Arguments Since Mr. Warriner
2 Joined the Fulbright Firm to Work on These Matters.

3 According to Mr. Warriner's professional profile, he joined the Fulbright 4 Firm in August of 2013. Exh. 2. Since that time, the Fulbright Defendants, and 5 other members of the joint defense group for whom Mr. Zembek serves as 6 liaison counsel, have asserted a number of new arguments/ defenses, many of 7 which seek to avoid or circumvent Judge Everingham's rulings in the Ameranth 8 v. Menusoft lawsuit that Mr. Warriner worked on as a judicial law clerk.

9 The Fulbright Firm asserted the defense of inequitable conduct against 10 Ameranth on behalf of the defendants in the Ameranth v. Menusoft lawsuit with 11 respect to the '850, '325 and '733 patents. Judge Everingham rejected that 12 defense, and did not even see a need to hold a separate hearing on inequitable 13 conduct. Ameranth v. Menusoft, Eastern District of Texas Case No. 07-cv-271, 14 Dkt. No. 316 (May 26, 2011), p. 5 ("the court DENIES Defendants' motion for 15 a finding of inequitable conduct"). Osborne Decl., ¶ 7.

16 Prior to Mr. Warriner joining the Fulbright Firm, the Fulbright 17 Defendants did not assert affirmative defenses or counterclaims for inequitable 18 conduct with respect to any of the '850, '325 and '733 patents as to which Judge 19 Everingham had previously found no inequitable conduct. See Dkt. No. 117 20 (Papa John's Answer and Counterclaims). In contrast, when Ameranth sued the 21 Fulbright Defendants on the '077 patent (a patent that had not issued when Mr.
22 Warriner clerked for Judge Everingham and was not before Judge Everingham 23 in the Ameranth v. Menusoft lawsuit), the Fulbright Defendants asserted both 24 affirmative defenses and counterclaims for inequitable conduct as to the '077 25 patent, only (see 12-cv-729, Dkt. No. 23, at pp. 6, 13-29).

26 However, in and around October of 2013, shortly after Mr. Warriner went 27 to work for the Fulbright Firm, the firm filed a series of answers and 28

1 counterclaims on behalf of the Fulbright Defendants that asserted affirmative 2 defenses and counterclaims of inequitable conduct against the ‘850, ‘325 and 3 ‘733 patents as well, contrary to Judge Everingham’s prior finding. See, e.g., 4 12-cv-1634, Dkt. No. 38, pp. 13-15, 26-31 (Hotel.com Answer); 12-cv-1651, 5 Dkt. No. 40, pp. 15-17, 29-36 (Fandango Answer). Many of the other, non-6 Fulbright, defendants also filed substantially similar answers and counterclaims 7 (sometimes containing identical language), evidencing the high level of 8 communication and information sharing within the joint defense group. See, 9 e.g., 12-cv-733, Dkt. No. 59, pp. 11-13, 20- 25 (Domino’s Answer).

10 Likewise, on October 15, 2013, a couple of months after Mr. Warriner’s 11 arrival at the Fulbright Firm, the Fulbright Defendants and most of the other 12 defendants filed CBM petitions challenging Ameranth’s patents, including the 13 ‘850, ‘325 and ‘733 patents construed by and tried before Judge Everingham 14 while Mr. Warriner clerked for him. As Ameranth points out in its Opposition 15 to Defendants’ Motion to Stay (Dkt. No. 526), the defendants’ CBM petitions 16 are filled with instances of the defendants seeking to avoid or circumvent the 17 findings or rulings by Judge Everingham, including: (a) that the patents claim a 18 novel inventions (Dkt. No. 526, p. 10, ll. 4-7); (b) rejecting defendants’ 19 proposed construction of “transmitting to a web page,” which underlies 20 defendants’ indefiniteness arguments (id. at p. 16, ll. 19-25, p. 18, ll. 3-12); and 21 (c) finding the claims sufficiently definite and described to be construed (id. at 22 p. 17, ll. 4-8). Additionally, following Mr. Warriner’s arrival at the Fulbright 23 Firm, the defendants have asserted a “single species” of synchronization 24 argument that is, in reality, simply a repackaging of a claim construction 25 position rejected by Judge Everingham previously (id. at p. 17, ll. 8-27).

26 By enlisting Mr. Warriner’s assistance to circumvent and undermine the 27 claim constructions and rulings issued by the judge for whom he clerked and on 28

1 which he personally worked, the Fulbright Defendants, and the other members 2 of the joint defense group working with the Fulbright Firm, are improperly 3 seeking an unfair advantage and “inside track.” The ethical rules imposed upon 4 attorneys and former judicial officers and their clerks are intended to prevent 5 this type of conduct, and the appearance (and actuality) of impropriety that it 6 creates.

7 All of the defendants have unfairly benefitted from Mr. Warriner’s 8 involvement in this matter. Thus, not only should Mr. Warriner and the 9 Fulbright Firm be disqualified, but discovery should also be permitted into the 10 extent of other defense counsel’s communications with the tainted attorneys to 11 determine whether further disqualifications are appropriate.

12 E. The Fulbright Defendants Would Not Be Unduly Prejudiced By 13 Disqualification Of Their Present Counsel.

14 The Fulbright Defendants should be estopped from arguing that they 15 would be unduly prejudiced by disqualification based on “lateness in the case,” 16 or proximity to trial, etc., because they just sought a stay of the entire case 17 arguing to the contrary and asserting that no prejudice would result from a stay:

18 C. The Trial Date and Discovery Status Weighs in Favor of a Stay.

19 Ameranth’s argument that the case is “substantially advanced” is 20 similarly unavailing. See Opp. at 19. Regardless, the fourth factor 21 strictly is “whether discovery is complete and whether a trial date 22 has been set.” AIA § 18(b)(1). Ameranth concedes that “discovery is not complete, and no trial date is currently set.” Opp. at 19. Thus, this factor strongly favors granting a stay.

23 Defendants’ Reply In Support Of Motion For Stay, Dkt. No. 528, p. 9. See also 24 Dkt, No. 520-1, pp. 11-12. As the Court is aware, non-claim construction 25 discovery is currently stayed in the consolidated cases, further reducing the 26 likelihood of any prejudice. Moreover, “the paramount concern must be the 27 preservation of public trust both in the scrupulous administration of justice and 28

1 in the integrity of the bar. Consequently, the recognizably important right to 2 choose one's counsel must yield to the ethical considerations that embody the 3 moral principles of our judicial process.” State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. v.
4 Federal Ins. Co., 72 Cal.App.4th 1422, 1428 (1999).

5 IV. CONCLUSION

6 Mr. Warriner and the Fulbright Firm violated the Rules of Professional 7 Conduct by failing to ethically screen Mr. Warriner from any contact with or 8 involvement in the consolidated cases and the CBM petitions despite their actual 9 knowledge of his personal involvement with the same matter as the law clerk for 10 Judge Everingham in the Ameranth v. Menusoft lawsuit, and by failing to 11 provide appropriate notice to Ameranth, the Court, and the USPTO. Under 12 these circumstances, Rule of Professional Conduct 1.12, Local Rule 83.4(b), and 13 37 C.F.R. §11.112 call for disqualification of both Mr. Warriner and the 14 Fulbright Firm from any continuing involvement in this matter.

1 Furthermore, the sharing of information and assertion of common (often 2 identical) positions by the joint defense group defendants in both the 3 consolidated cases and the CBM petitions since Mr. Warriner joined the 4 Fulbright Firm creates the impression that other defense counsel may be subject 5 to the same disqualification concerns with which Mr. Warriner and the Fulbright 6 Firm are tainted¹². Therefore, Ameranth requests permission of the Court to 7 conduct discovery into the joint defense group communications between Mr.
8 Warriner, the Fulbright Firm, and other defense counsel to determine if further 9 disqualifications are appropriate.
